Introduction

This document contains the description of menu items for the Adjutant, Commander, or Administrator to use for managing the database for the website. Since the Administrator is not an officer all actions by the Administrator will be done as an alias Hubmaster; therefore, the Hubmaster will get a copy of all emails generated on the site. Every database change will generate an email to be sent to the Member, Adjutant, Commander, and Administrator.

This is a working document and will change when there are changes on the website. If you see a function you want added or an error in any function, please send me an email so it can be corrected. I try to catch any grammar or spelling errors, but if I miss any let me know the page and the error so I can correct it. I am an egoless webmaster so fell free to yell at me for things.
